

MUSC 010: Music Appreciation

This is an introductory course for students without previous training in music. Students have the opportunity to develop an enjoyment and appreciation through active and guided listening to such musical forms as symphony, opera, tone poems, ballet, and concerto from early times to the present. This course